CONVENIENCE FOOD

Boarded-up toilets set to be converted into new restaurant

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

RESIDENTS could soon be dining out in a disused council-owned public loo.

The boarded-up toilets at Tottenham's High Cross are set to be brought back into use and turned into a swanky cafe or bar.

The Victorian-built lavatories on the corner of Monument Way and Tottenham High Road have been closed for many years.

But under new Haringey Council plans to regenerate the area, diners will soon be able to enjoy a meal or drink cocktails where the former tiled urinals and cubicles once existed.

The scheme would replace and restore the building's heritage features while a new terrace, seating, plants and an accessible entrance would be installed.

Another improvement scheme has also got the green light to transform an unmarked former burial site on public space less than a quarter of a mile away in Brook Street, just off High Road, Tottenham.

A special feature will be a memorial stone to mark the hidden graves, alongside new trees, plants, fencing and resurfacing.

The Brook Street improvements were championed by members of the Bruce Grove Stake-

Vision of the future: An artist's impression of how the development will look holder Group, which identified it as a hotspot for antisocial behaviour and with very few facilities.

Both projects will be funded partly by the Greater London Authority and form ongoing work by the council to improve Tottenham's public spaces and meet residents' wishes for more places to eat, drink and have fun.

"Residents and local businesses have led the way on these quirky ideas for local improvements in Tottenham, honouring the area's heritage and revamping rundown spots," said Alan Strickland, the council's cabinet member for housing and regeneration.

"It's great to see even more projects to improve Tottenham's public spaces move a step closer as we put people's creativity into action."

Police probe fatal shooting

A POLICE investigation has been launched after a 28-year-old Tottenham man died during a shooting in Wood Green last week.

Jermaine Baker died on Friday as a result of a single gunshot wound. The Independent Police Complaints Commission has now launched a criminal homicide investigation into his death.

Deputy assistant commissioner Peter Terry, from specialist crime and operations, said: "The exact circumstances that led to Mr Baker's death must be thoroughly and independently examined. The IPCC will receive our fullest possible support with their investigation."

"All of our officers involved in Friday's operation are receiving all the possible support we can provide. This is a very difficult time for everyone affected by the death of Mr Baker."

The ongoing investigation by the Organised Crime Command has now resulted in four men being charged with a suspected plot to free a prisoner.

Nathan Mason, 30, of Vicarage Road, Tottenham, and 19-year-old Gokay Sogucakli, of The Roundway, Tottenham, were charged on Sunday with conspiracy to aid the escape from custody of Izzet Eren and Erwin Amoyaw-Gyamfi.

They were also charged with possession of an imitation firearm with intent to commit an offence and driving a motor vehicle taken without consent.

Ozcan Eren, 31, of Douglas Road, Wood Green, and Eren Hayser, 25, of Kettering Road, Enfield, were charged with conspiracy to aid the men's escape.

They were remanded in custody at Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court on Monday and are due to appear at Wood Green Crown Court on January 4.

Appeal for information: Adbulkarim Boudiaf

Who killed my son?

A GRIEVING family from Tottenham whose teenage son was shot dead in 2009 have appealed for fresh information to help track down his killer.

More than six years after 18-year-old Adbulkarim Boudiaf was shot in Broadwater Road, the case remains open.

His death, shortly before 10.30pm on March 14, "completely destroyed" the family, according to his father Nouredine Boudiaf.

"When my son was killed, the whole family was completely destroyed," he said.

"There is a killer running free on the streets. We want your help, the help of the public, to put my son's killer behind bars."

Adbulkarim's mother, Wahiba Boudiaf, said: "It was one day before Mother's Day, so you mothers and fathers, please help me to put his killer in prison to keep your children safe.

"While my son's killer can still hug his mother, I am hugging a stone."

His brother Abdurahman asked anyone with information to come forward "for the sake of dignity, humanity and justice".

Adbulkarim was pronounced dead at the scene and a post-mortem examination revealed the cause of death to be a gunshot wound to the chest.

Police hope that someone may now feel able to come forward when they felt reluctant to do immediately after the tragedy.

Detective Chief Inspector Andy Chalmers, of the Metropolitan Police's homicide and major crime command, said: "On the evening of the murder, Adbulkarim was in the vicinity of The Elmhurst pub with friends when, just before 10pm, he was confronted by his killer, who shot him twice.

"This murder remains unsolved and those responsible for the murder are still at large. I am appealing for new witnesses to come forward.

"Were you in or around The Elmhurst pub on the night of the murder? Did you see Adbulkarim being shot and did you see who was responsible?"

Witnesses are being asked to call the incident room on 020 8358 0100, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Unlucky break prompts a cycle safety reminder

By Lucy Purdy

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A THREE-YEAR-OLD boy's leg was broken in three places after a cyclist riding on the pavement in Enfield Town knocked him over.

Cara Lewis said her son Noah Frewin now faces Christmas in a plaster cast after the incident outside Argos, in Cecil Road, on Monday last week.

Noah was reportedly just steps ahead of his mother and grandmother as they left the shop at about 3pm with Noah's baby brother Thomas.

Within seconds, a man cycling on the pavement in the direction of the Town Park knocked him to the ground.

"He was going at high speed and knocked Noah completely off his feet," said Miss Lewis.

"There was swelling around his right ankle. I didn't realise at first the severity of his injuries."

The family, of James Street, Enfield, took Noah to Barnet Hospital and were told the ankle had been broken in three places.

"The doctor told us he could see from the breakages that the cyclist must have been going very quickly," said Miss Lewis.

"The man stopped and apologised, but he shouldn't have been cycling on the pavement. God forbid what could have happened if it had been an elderly person knocked over."

The family informed the police the following day and the incident is being investigated.

It comes as debate continues on the controversial Cycle Enfield scheme, which would see partially segregated bike lanes installed along Green Lanes, from Palmers Green to Enfield Town.

Road markings already indicate a bike lane in Cecil Road – but the cyclist reportedly ignored them, taking to the pavement instead, a manoeuvre deemed illegal by UK law.

"I'm not against them putting cycle lanes in, but I think people need to be educated about how to use them," said Miss Lewis.

"Noah has to be in the cast for at least six weeks so he's bored stiff. He's a very active little boy who doesn't like to sit around, but he can't bear any weight on his right leg. I'm proud of how brave he's been."

"He cried when it happened, but he didn't cry at hospital. He has coped very well."

A Met Police spokesman confirmed that officers had been called to reports of a cyclist in collision with a pedestrian and that a three-year-old boy had suffered leg injuries.

"The cyclist stopped at the scene and is helping police with their inquiries," he said. "No arrests have been made."

Response to 'referendum' delights MP

MORE people have completed David Burrowes' cycle lane "referendum" than the official council consultation, the MP claimed this week.

Two weeks after its launch, the Enfield Southgate MP said his unofficial opinion poll has generated 1,665 cards from constituents.

This is in contrast to the 1,646 responses received by the council during the official consultation.

The MP's survey, which is being sent to 17,000 households, will continue until Christmas.

During its 12-week consultation process, Enfield Council sent out 60,000 leaflets across the borough and directed people to an online consultation.

Mr Burrowes said: "It is significant that many constituents do not think that they have been given sufficient opportunity by the council to put forward their views and welcome my referendum."

However, Daniel Anderson, the council's cabinet member for environment, has branded it a "sham referendum", adding: "David Burrowes is in error when he says that residents were unable to respond to the consultation by post as those who requested a paper form were sent one."

Singing in the snow: The Light Up A Life celebrations in Enfield Town

The snow must go on

A SURPRISE snow machine delighted crowds during a charity light switch-on event in Enfield last week.

Those at the Nightingale Cancer Support Centre's event on Wednesday had no idea that artificial flakes would begin to descend as they sung Silent Night and Away in a Manger.

They had gathered for the annual Light Up A Life event, which celebrates the lives of those lost to cancer as well as cancer survivors.

"Nightingale is all about supporting people by lighting up their lives and the support we receive from the community enables us to do this," said Nightingale's fundraising manager Lesa Barker.

People lit candles dedicated to their loved ones and sung carols in front of a Christmas tree, accompanied by the Children's International Voices of Enfield choir, before mulled wine and mince pies were handed around.

The snowy surprise came courtesy of global software provider Metaswitch, whose Church Street base was used for the event.

The lights were officially switched on by Doreen Willis, who retired from her job with Metaswitch this year and who has been a long-time fundraising supporter of Nightingale.

"Even I didn't know about the snow," added Lesa. "It was a great surprise and a lovely evening."

New book lists those who died in world war

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

THOUSANDS of men from the borough who died in World War I have been commemorated in the pages of a new book recording their lives.

The names and addresses of 2,739 servicemen killed in the conflict are painstakingly recorded in the leather-bound book produced by archivists and volunteers at Enfield Local Studies Library at the Dugdale Centre, in London Road, Enfield Town.

There are copies of the books for members of the public to view – at Enfield Town Library, in Church Street, Ordinance Unity Centre, in Ordinance Road, Enfield Lock, Palmers Green Library, in Broomfield Lane, and the library in South Mall, Edmonston Green, as well as in the Dugdale.

The funding for the project came from the Heritage Lottery Fund and it forms part of the Enfield at War exhibition currently on show in the local studies section of the Dugdale Centre.

Enfield Council's cabinet member for children and education Ayfer Orhan recommended residents to look through the books to see if relatives are included.

She said: "It is important that we

ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

Playing it by the book: John Clark, Enfield's local studies officer build a permanent archive to commemorate the young men and women who served so bravely in World War I."

Ms Orhan added: "The book contains 2,739 names and addresses listed in alphabetical order, but we believe there are still some names missing so we are asking the public to come forward and let us know of any missing names and the stories behind them."

"Since this book commemorates a war that took place more than 100 years ago it has been difficult to track down the details and the ages of those listed and where they fought so bravely."

"However, our staff are always interested to hear about family stories and archives that can add to our knowledge and be part of the growing collection of Enfield's past."

Anyone with any further information should contact local studies officer John Clark at john.clark@enfield.gov.uk or by calling 020 8379 2745.

We are only trying to protect the café area, say conservationists

A CONSERVATION group are stressing their commitment to helping the community after coming under fire from a café owner.

Last week the Advertiser reported on the opening of the Starfish Loves Coffee café, in Aldermans Hill, Palmers Green.

Owner Aykut Hilmi said that the Friends of the Lakes Estate Conservation Area had objected to the late licence for the premises that serves alcohol and will be hosting late-night arts events in the new year.

However, Colin Younger, the chairman of the Friends of the Lakes Estate Conservation Area, said that was not the case at all and objected to the suggestion that the group were set against the café in any way.

"Our role is to preserve and enhance the character and appearance of the area which has been classed in law as a conservation area," said Mr Younger.

"We are a volunteer group encouraged by the council to help protect the conservation area as set out by law," he added.

"Any objections we had were based solely on the aspects of the application that would affect the appearance of the conservation area and we submitted our concerns on the planning application in writing as we do with any application."

"Our objections to the original planning application were based on the amount of space on a public pavement that outdoor tables and a permanent bench would have taken up."

Responding to the suggestion that anyone in the group had tried to stop the café operating with a late licence, he said: "Our objections were nothing to do with a licence or opening late."

We certainly did not go round talking to people about the application."

"We are a small group of people who work together to protect the conservation area. To suggest we did anything else is plain wrong."

Space objections:

Christmas cracker

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

CHILDREN in hospital had an early visit from Santa this year – but rather than reindeer helping whisk the load of presents over the heads of sleeping children, a group of scooter riders were given the task of looking after the precious cargo.

The Mad Mods and Englishmen Scooter Club, who meet in the Old Bell pub, in Baker Street, Enfield, raised more than £1,000 from a day of family fun earlier in the year to lavish on gifts for youngsters in Barnet Hospital.

The scooter club were told by hospital staff what the ward needed to entertain children and as well as a large TV the money raised paid for a multiple-use football table, which transforms into a table tennis table, and an air hockey table as well as a table football platform.

“We were also able to buy individual presents for the kids,” club chairman Steve Besemer told the Advertiser.

“It was fantastic, it was all so well done. We got to see Santa and his elf handing out presents to the kids and we could see their faces and how happy they were.”

To help the 50-strong scooter cavalcade stay together on their jaunt from Enfield to Barnet, they were escorted by the Sons of Enfield Motorbike Club, who acted as outriders – even stopping traffic at the Cat Hill roundabout, in Cockfosters, so no one got lost.

“The Old Bell pub were fantastic,” added Steve. “They helped us raise money and have always been so supportive of our efforts.”

Winter is the busiest time in the burglar's calendar

Don't make it easy for them

5 top tips for deterring burglars

- » Install a visible intruder alarm system with an active bell box - both front and rear of the property.
- » Ensure access to the side and rear of the property is restricted and if you have gates lock them.
- » Use automatic timer-switches to turn on/off lights and radios when your home is unoccupied (evenings out/holidays).
- » Where door locks are operated by lifting the handle, use the key to double lock the door and take the key out; remember Lift-Lock-Remove.
- » An internal letterbox shield will prevent keys being fished through the letterbox.

Jewel raider's criminal past is revealed to jury

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

AN Enfield man who has admitted involvement in the £14million Hatton Garden jewel heist had previously been jailed for being part of the gang which carried out another notorious multi-million-pound robbery back in the 1980s, a jury has heard.

Terry Perkins was jailed for 22 years for his role in the Securicor raid in Shoreditch in 1983.

Perkins, of Heene Road, played a part in the £6m robbery at the vaults at Securicor Express in London on Easter Monday 32 years ago, the jury at Woolwich Crown heard last Wednesday.

Perkins turned 67 on Easter Saturday this year, two days after the gang first broke into the Hatton Garden Safe Deposit company.

He was back at the vault on the evening of his birthday, the court heard, leaving the building on Easter Sunday.

Perkins has pleaded guilty to his role in the burglary and will be sentenced at a later date.

Meanwhile, it was revealed in court that the oldest member of the gang, 76-year-old Brian Reader, from Dartford, Kent, who has also admitted his role in the Hatton Garden raid, was jailed for eight years after pleading guilty to conspiracy to handling stolen goods following the notorious £26m Brinks Mat armed robbery at Heathrow Airport in 1983.

The jury were also told that Reader was sentenced to a further year in prison for dishonestly handling £66,000 in cash.

The jurors also heard about previous convictions of two other men who have also pleaded guilty to conspiracy to burgle – Daniel Jones, of Park Avenue, Bush Hill Park, and John “Kenny” Collins.

The jury were told that 60-year-old Jones has convictions for robbery, burglary and handling stolen goods.

Earlier, the court had heard a covert police recording in which Jones said: “At least we can hold our heads up that we had a last go.”

The court was told on Wednesday that Collins, 74, of Islington, north London, has convictions for breaking in, theft and handling stolen goods.

On the opening day of the trial, prosecutor Philip Evans had told the court that the Hatton Garden raid was “the largest burglary in English legal history”.

He said that two of the ring-leaders, who have admitted their roles in the audacious raid, had also been involved in some of the biggest acquisitive crime of the last century – and the other two who have pleaded guilty had been involved in serious theft for many years in their earlier lives.

The revelations came during the trial of four other men who deny any involvement in the Hatton Garden raid.

Plumber Hugh Doyle, 48, of Riverside Gardens, Enfield, faces a charge of concealing, converting or transferring jewellery or other stolen goods.

He also faces an alternative charge of conspiracy to convert or transfer criminal property.

Three other men – William Lincoln, 60, of Bethnal Green, east London, Jon Harbinson, 42, from Benfleet, Essex and Carl Wood, 58, of Elderbeck Close, Cheshunt – are accused of conspiracy to burgle and are also charged with the laundering offence.

The trial continues.

Trial date fixed after flat death

A TRIAL date has been set for those accused of murdering a woman who was found dead in a tower block in Bush Hill Park in September.

Walid Ibrahim, 34, of Church Street,

Edmonton, and two women – Kiinse Aidid, 21, of East Ham, east London, and Macdalena Agathine, 21, of no fixed address – will stand trial at the Old Bailey from February 22.

They are charged with murdering Hamdi Jiumale, 25, of Linnet Close, Edmonton, who was discovered by paramedics in Gainsborough House on the Ayley Croft estate. She had died of “multiple injuries”, according to a post-mortem examination. Aidid and Agathine have been remanded in custody and Ibrahim awaits trial on bail.

Residents urged to ensure they register at GP surgery

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

A NEW campaign is urging people to make sure they are registered with a GP, so they are not left without a doctor when illness strikes.

In September, the Advertiser reported on Healthwatch Enfield's snapshot survey of 145 residents in Edmonton which revealed that 17 per cent of those asked were not registered with a GP.

Now Enfield Council has launched a campaign to make sure no one is left without a family doctor if taken ill. The campaign includes leaflets with details about surgeries and contact details to help select a GP practice close to home.

Nneka Keazor, cabinet member for public health, said: "GPs are essential in providing health services for all the family and are an important gateway to other healthcare services like vaccinations for children, advice and support on family planning, diet, sexual health and quitting smoking and there are also free health checks for blood pressure, cholesterol and diabetes."

She said people not registered with a GP often head to hospital accident and emergency departments, where they may face long waits.

Healthwatch Enfield's chief executive Lorna Reith said that one of the issues people face was with families living in temporary accommodation, who might find it difficult to provide proof of address.

"They don't have their names on household bills," she explained.

However, she added that even if people did not have all the documents they still had the right to register with a GP, with temporary registrations possible for visitors for up to three months.

Further details about surgeries are available from www.nhs.uk, or by calling Healthwatch on 020 8373 6283.

Launching campaign: Nneka Keazor

Free checks on children's car seats throughout 2016

SAFETY conscious parents can get their children's car seats checked for free in the new year.

The checks have been organised by Enfield Council and sessions start in February and continue until October.

By law, youngsters under 135cm (4ft 5ins) tall have to use a proper child seat when travelling by car.

However, research by the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents suggests that four out of every five seats for children are fitted incorrectly.

The council-run checks are aimed to give parents the chance to check they have fitted the right seat for their child and that it is installed safely. There will also be a range of car seats to test before they buy the right one for their child.

While parents are talking safety with the experts, every child who has a car seat fitted can enjoy free face painting.

Daniel Anderson, the council's cabinet member for the environment, said: "This is a great free initiative which will help improve the safety of children travelling in cars by helping to ensure that parents are aware of how to correctly install their child's car seats."

He said the council was committed to reducing the number of deaths and serious injuries on the roads and hoped this initiative would help keep children safe.

All the free events run between 10am and 2pm. The team will be at Halfords, in Great Cambridge Road, Enfield, on Wednesday, February 17, Tesco, in High Street, Ponders End, on Tuesday, April 29, Mothercare at the Ravenside Retail Park, in Angel Road, Edmonton, on Wednesday, June 1, and Southbury Leisure Centre, in Southbury Road, Enfield, on Wednesday, August 10. The final session is on Tuesday, October 25, at Asda, in Chase Side, Southgate.

Traffic wardens strike for a day

TRAFFIC wardens in Enfield staged a one-day strike last week in a dispute over pay.

The walkout was by 30 GMB trade union members who work for car parking company NSL Ltd under contract to Enfield Council.

They voted to strike in a bid to secure a London wage living payment. At the moment they are paid £8.41 per hour and are calling for an increase to £9.40 per hour.

The strikers took to picket lines at Green Lanes, in Palmers Green, on Friday and at the vehicle pound, in Crown Road, Enfield.

A spokesman for NSL said that only 14 workers had joined the strike.

Richard Owen, the GMB organiser for London, said: "All we are seeking is the £9.40 per hour London living wage for our members, who are out in all weathers doing a difficult, and sometimes dangerous job, for which they get little recognition. Enfield claims to be a living wage council and encourages its contractors to honour the principle of the London living wage."

Mr Owen is due to meet council leader Doug Taylor and cabinet member for finance Andrew Stafford and added: "It is not acceptable for people to be working for less than the London living wage."

He called on the council to ensure that companies it contracts pay the living wage and said there could be further action if the workers' demands were not met.

An NSL spokesman said: "We have offered a fair and generous pay deal, comfortably above inflation and remain open to negotiation."

THE Paris climate conference has just finished and I am somewhat encouraged that at least the rhetoric is a lot more positive than it has been.

Of course, the targets are too weak and they probably won't be met anyway, but perhaps 2015 will go down as the year when governments started to "get it".

Except ours, of course, which will only "get it" at gunpoint.

Locally, the big story of the year has been the battle over Cycle Enfield. Encouraging cycling while improving the look of our town centres ought to be a no-brainer, but the resistance has been fierce and often ill-informed.

Surely something must be done to curb the power of the car which is strangling London and is a major cause of the air pollution which kills more than 9,000 Londoners a year?

Those problems will get worse as the population of Enfield continues to rise. Where to put the new houses we so desperately need?

Already threats to our precious green belt are emerging and more can be expected.

Enfield Green Party stands with the defenders such as Enfield RoadWatch, but you have to feel sympathy for the problems the council faces in finding alternatives.

Looking forward to 2016, the highlight for Greens will be the elections for Mayor of London and the London Assembly.

The London Assembly election is proportional, so it's one where we can and do get Greens in – two at the moment and we have good hopes for a third and maybe the balance of power.

We were able to use that effectively when Ken Livingstone was mayor to get Green policies implemented – will you give us that chance again?

THE last time I visited my auntie, vascular dementia had not yet destroyed her cheery personality.

It was Christmas, she informed me, as the August sunshine streamed through the windows of the care home.

The other people in the lounge – staff and residents – were her long-dead relatives, gathered in the parlour, "There's Uncle Charlie and Aunt Flo, and little brother Billy's over there..."

It was always uncles at Christmas, reminisced the Welsh poet Dylan Thomas about his 1920s' childhood. My memories are similar. It was always uncles, aunties, nannies, granddads, cousins at Christmas time.

Some uncles could do card tricks. Some told stories not suitable for children's ears (but we listened attentively). And from time to time, uncles, aunts and all the other adults would suddenly burst out singing – not carols, but the popular songs of their youth – Don't Dilly-Dally, Underneath the Arches, etc.

The extended family, like other social networks, has grown weaker as British society gets ever more competitive and individualised. The anarchy of the property market has broken up traditional communities. Long working hours, with bullying bosses, may leave us too stressed to bother about keeping in touch with distant relatives.

Some families can still look forward to an old-style Christmas gathering. In others, mums and dads will be on their own with the children. There will be less catering to do, but also, perhaps, less emotional support.

Grace me no grace, nor uncle me no uncles! A merry Christmas and happy New Year to all.

Paul Everitt

Artistic director, Millfield Arts Centre

ALWAYS get nostalgic at this time of year. I think it's something to do with the wonderful sound of 350 children roaring with delight twice a day in the theatre which takes me back to my own childhood.

I remember seeing my first pantomime as a child when my parents took the family to see Anita Harris star in Aladdin.

We sat in the "gods" and needed binoculars to see the actors properly.

But I loved it and my dream from that moment was that I was going to spend my life in the theatre.

When I see the faces of the children attending one of the fantastic shows in venues across Enfield – at Millfield, Chickenshed, the Intimate Theatre and the Dugdale I always wonder which ones are going to be bitten by that same theatre bug that bit me all those years ago.

And what wonderful opportunities our children now have to pursue those dreams.

There's a wonderful array of independent dance and drama schools across Enfield including Platinum, Suella Academy and Ministry of Expression at Enfield Council's Millfield House.

After Christmas the young people of Platinum Performing Arts will take over Millfield Theatre and produce their own urban show, this year Snow White & The Seven Superheroes, and we'll have the wonderful opportunity to see the next generation live their dream.

I'd like to wish everyone in Enfield a very merry Christmas and happy New Year and my wish for you all is that your dreams come true.

Extra weekday evening and Saturday urgent GP appointments until 31 March 2016

If you are registered with a GP practice in Enfield, you can now benefit from an appointment with a GP weekday evenings and on Saturdays at one of two GP access hubs.

Booking is easy:

- Contact your GP practice in the usual way, and ask for a weekday evening or Saturday appointment at one of the GP access hubs, OR
- Call 111 (NHS 111 is available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year and calls are free from landlines and mobiles), OR
- Call direct on 020 8887 8343 (available 11am – 5.30pm Monday to Saturday)

Extra urgent GP appointments will help improve access to GPs and to reduce pressure on busy A&E departments this winter.

Opening times:

Mondays to Fridays: 4pm - 8pm

Saturdays: 9am - 5.30pm

GP access hub locations:

Evergreen Primary Care Centre

1 Smythe Close,
Edmonton N9 0TW

Green Lanes Surgery

808 Green Lanes,
Winchmore Hill, N21 2SA

Using this service will not affect your registration at your own practice.

Ask your pharmacist

Pharmacists can give you expert advice on a wide range of long-term conditions and common illnesses such as coughs, colds and stomach upsets. You don't need an appointment and many pharmacies have private consultation areas, so they are a good first port of call. Your pharmacist will say if you need further medical attention.

Self-care

Most common winter ailments, such as a cold, sore throat, cough, sinusitis or painful middle ear infection (earache), should not be treated with antibiotics as a first choice. Your pharmacist can advise you on which medicines you should have in your cabinet, to help get you and your family through the winter season.

Remember:
A&E is for life threatening illnesses and injuries only. Call NHS 111 if you need medical help fast but it's not a 999 emergency.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGES

Doug Taylor

Leader of Enfield Council

CHRISTMAS – what does it mean to you? Is it carol services, the birth of Christ, the Queen's speech, turkey dinners, Scrooge, a tree, a cracker, or none of the above? And what is it for those of a non-Christian faith?

Does the Christmas period bring the nation together as it once did? It used to be the epitome of a shared experience. I suspect not so much now.

When I was a small boy, of course, I, like all children, had Santa Claus.

At school we had carols, card giving and nativity plays – and with few television channels families all watched the same programmes at the same time in the same room and we would talk about them days later at school with our friends.

Perhaps that's why Morecambe and Wise remain rooted in our collective consciousness, as a result of their Christmas shows.

So we had, as a nation, a cultural as well as religious holiday experience which was common to us all and was part of an enjoyable and memorable time of the year. This remains, but maybe a little diluted.

Today perhaps things are different. Our society is more culturally diverse and we enjoy considerably more variety in what we do in our spare time.

We watch less TV at the same time as each other, we use gaming consoles, personal computers and the like.

So we can have less of a shared involvement in the holiday and festival and that has maybe changed the way we experience Christmas and share it with the rest of the nation.

But I think we should make time, as a nation, to reflect on and celebrate what is important to us all collectively – the great institutions we hold dear, the NHS, the greatest institution in the UK, our liberal and tolerant values, our compassion and inherent fairness, our thirst and appreciation of freedom and equity.

We are all stronger when we are together and what better a time to reflect on that whatever our faith or absence of faith.

So to everyone a merry Christmas, happy new year, and a peaceful 2016.

Decision time: The Conservative Party triumphed in this year's general election

Terry Neville

Enfield Council Conservative group leader

ONCE again another year has passed and if you are anything like me, you'll be racking your brain wondering why the year seems to have passed more quickly than the last.

Never mind, it was ever thus. Whatever else, it has certainly been an eventful year in politics.

My party scored a stunning success in the May general election and was returned to government with an overall majority for the first time in 20 years, while in the fall-out from Labour's pretty humiliating defeat, they moved further to the left, electing Jeremy Corbyn as their leader – whether in despair or hope I leave readers to speculate.

Sadly, terrorism has not been far from the national headlines throughout the year, culminating in the catastrophic loss of young lives in Paris on November 13.

The scale of wickedness displayed in this and other barbaric acts during the year really does defy description and at this time our hearts go out to the families and friends of all those affected, just as they do to those stricken with illness and other suffering at this time.

It goes without saying that we all want a better, safer world for our children and grandchildren to inhabit, but that can only come at a price and that price is the defeat of terrorism in all its forms. That requires a huge dose of stoicism on all our parts in order to tolerate the many inconveniences that will flow from the necessary further tightening of security.

And so we now enter the Christmas period – a period not just of joy, important as that is, but one of hope for an improved future, greater tolerance and, above all, peace and well-being for all our borough's citizens and their families.

I hope that all readers will have a very happy Christmas and New Year.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Richard Power feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate areas and Richard is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

Shopworkers are people too and they don't deserve abuse

I WOULD like to wish your readers a very merry Christmas and a happy New Year. For many this is always an exciting time, but in the last few shopping days it can be frantic trying to get everything ready for the big day.

I want to gently remind your readers to remember that shopworkers are people as well. They will be working really hard to make your shopping experience as stress-free and enjoyable as possible.

A survey has shown that every minute of the working day a shopworker is verbally abused, threatened with violence or physically attacked.

Shopworkers report that incidents are more frequent throughout the Christmas and New Year period when shops are busier and customers can be stressed and are more likely to take out their frustration on staff.

Talking to our members who work in retail, I know that verbal abuse cuts deep. Many will go home after a shift upset about an unpleasant incident that took place at work that day and worried that it will happen to them again.

That is why Usdaw, the shopworkers' trade union, is running a Respect for Shopworkers campaign, asking customers to "keep your cool at Christmas". It's a simple message, but remembering that shopworkers are working extra hard at this time and treating them with respect will mean that everyone can have a happier Christmas.

If we don't do anything then problems will just get worse

THE council was returned in 2014, with an increased majority, on a manifesto which included Cycle Enfield.

The Cycle Enfield consultation is not a referendum, nor a case of being "for" or "against". The consultation is designed (and has been from the start) to harness residents', partners' and experts' views in order to shape the final design so that it is the best it can be for the people of Enfield, young and old, businesses and families, the disabled and vulnerable, and also for the visitors we hope to attract to our revitalised town centre.

The consultation is independently designed by experienced professionals, and follows Transport for London practice and guidelines.

It is absurd to expect the council to publish adjustments on the hoof in response to concerns raised before this consultation is complete.

Meanwhile, we are listening, thinking about the adjustments that can be made and, when all views are known, will develop a final proposal which will take all views into account and the objectives of the successful bid, to which we are contracted (and which received cross-party support).

To firmly rebut the accusation that the consultation is somehow "flawed" it's worth pointing out that Cycle Enfield has been shortlisted for an award by the Local Government Chronicle for campaign of the year – communications.

Independent, expert, assessors have been appointed to perform impact assessments on equality, air quality, the local economy and disability.

The emergency services are also being specifically consulted. All interested parties have been consulted throughout as invitees to the Cycle Enfield Partnership Boards.

If individuals are not prepared to countenance any adjustments to the current way of doing things, which already cause congestion, road rage, rat runs, unacceptable levels of air pollution, obesity and ill health, which will get much worse if we do nothing, what are we to do?

Enfield is already confronting an unsustainable situation regarding traffic, parking and pollution. Obesity among Enfield children has increased this year, again, and yet one of the biggest causes of complaints concern parking and congestion around schools and "school runs", which continue to grow in number.

Cycle Enfield is underpinned by what are called the Dutch principles, which focus on cycle safety, health, access to schools, social inclusion and access to employment.

Our intention is to achieve, ultimately, an environment in which a child may cycle safely. This precludes sideroads, where parking is a continuous hazard, and isolated footpaths.

The Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents reported in May that promoting cycling and improving cycle safety benefit pedestrians and also that both pedestrians and cyclists are highly vulnerable to, and restricted by, motor traffic. It reported, too, that it is important to improve driver behaviour.

Enfield bid for funding from the "Mini-Holland" programme. All publicly funded programmes lay down strict objectives which successful bidders must meet. In the case of Mini Holland, these objectives aimed to improve public health, reduce congestion and revitalise town centres in outer London by reducing the number of journeys by car and replacing the thousands of short local journeys by car that could easily be cycled, or walked.

If successful, Enfield could see dramatic reductions in traffic, air pollution and parking and, at a minimum, major improvements to public spaces.

The vast majority of shoppers in Enfield Town arrive by public transport or walk. Most cars in Enfield Town are passing through, they neither stop nor shop. Our town centre is one big rat run – polluted, unpleasant and unsafe for pedestrians, cyclists, the vulnerable, the elderly and the young.

Change is essential and inevitable.
Councillor Vicki Pite,
Chase Ward
Associate Cabinet Member
Enfield North
Chair, Cycle Enfield Partnership Board (North)

Consultation was a sham These claims are erroneous

MY views regarding the Cycle Enfield consultation are as follows:

1) The scheme will have such a major affect on the local community that it should not go ahead without majority support.

2) The referendum is our MP's way (in Grange ward) of making sure his constituents' voices are heard.

3) To now David Burrowes has showed complete impartiality, voicing no opinion with regard to the scheme, but he is concerned that it is being pushed through, without local voices being properly heard.

4) I have absolute faith that Mr Burrowes's referendum is being conducted in a scrupulous manner.

With regard to the council's so-called consultation:

a) Anyone could make multiple submissions.

b) The complicated process made it very difficult for people without access or not computer literate to complete. Obtaining a paper copy was a job and a half.

c) The council form was complicated and confusing for many people to complete.

d) Submissions could be made from anywhere. The computer literate only needed Google maps and Royal Mail postcode finder to get the necessary postcode.

e) The council's consultation was the real sham, conducted by the zealots responsible for implementing the scheme.

David Lee
Village Road,
Enfield

I READ that, currently, 0.75 per cent of journeys are by cycle and the hope is for the cycle schemes to raise this to five per cent. That's tens of millions of pounds spent for the convenience of five per cent of journeys and the extreme inconvenience of 95 per cent.

It reminds me of the political dogma of Ken Livingstone in the days of the Greater London Council when the North South route was built with no direct access to the M25. As a result, road users and Bullsmoor Lane residents suffer every day.

The council claims 60 per cent of the population are in favour. I understand this is 600 out of the 1,000 who used the consultation website. It does not need my ONC maths to know that 600 out of a population of 320,000 is not 60 per cent.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

Jo Collins

Chickenshed Theatre

A VERY happy Christmas to you all, and thank you so much for following our Chickenshed news over the past year.

Chickenshed is extremely grateful to be a part of the wonderful borough of Enfield and it is brilliant to know that we have the support of the local newspaper, Enfield Council and members of this caring and thoughtful community.

We are your local theatre – and so much more besides. We have been making ground-breaking theatre for more than 40 years and our inclusive creative process is renowned nationally and internationally.

We try to make sure that we offer something for absolutely everyone who comes through our doors – but if we are missing something, then please tell us so we can put it right.

Our purpose-built theatre spaces play host to a huge range of productions, across the whole year.

We present regular shows for very young children, plus shows for families and adults, and we have a busy programme of live music and comedy events, too.

But that's not all. We run regular weekly sessions for our children's and youth theatre members, with performance and singing sessions for adults as well.

For the past 20 years we have also offered a unique opportunity to learn and perform in a working theatre.

We deliver BTEC, foundation degree and full BA courses – and have been rated outstanding by Ofsted.

And if all that isn't enough, we have our Brothers Grill at the heart of our building, a wonderful café bar/restaurant, which is perfect for a morning coffee, a light lunch or an evening meal.

We wish you all a very merry Christmas and look forward to welcoming you to our theatre in 2016.

It already looks to be a fabulous year, with lots of exciting and fun events coming up. Please let us share the magic of theatre with you.

Thank you again for reading my column.

FAMILY ANNOUNCEMENTS

History prizes dedicated to the memory of David Pam

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

A KEEN local historian is being remembered with prizes for research into Enfield's past.

Enfield Council has launched the David Pam Memorial Bursary with categories for primary and secondary school pupils and adults.

Edmonton-born Mr Pam was the author of several books about the borough including A History of Enfield in Three Volumes as well as a book about the history of the Royal Small Arms Factory in Enfield Lock.

He died last year, aged 94.

Primary schools are being invited to enter group work on any local history theme in Enfield. Entries can include essays of 1,000 to 1,500 words, or up to ten minutes long for an oral history.

Secondary school pupils should also work in groups and produce work between 1,500 and 2,000 words long, or a recording of up to ten minutes.

There are prizes of £250 for the best school entry, with £10 book vouchers for pupils and a selection of local history books for school libraries.

Cabinet member for education and children's services Ayfer Orhan said: "Enfield is a fascinating borough today, but much of it comes from its past. So what can be discovered about it and the way it has developed?"

She said the council wanted to honour a man who was always curious about the history of the borough.

"David Pam was a remarkable local historian always ready to take a fresh look at the borough and shed light on its development," she added.

"He was passionate about Enfield's history and described in great detail a past rich in productivity and creativity, alive with invention and gloriously blessed with wonderful green space."

Ms Orhan will be joined by archivist John Clark and a member of Mr Pam's family to judge

Delving into the archives: David Pam, after whom the prizes have been named the entries. There is also an adults section with judges looking for "an outstanding piece of work demonstrating the quality of the research, accuracy of the descriptions and the materials, creative presentation and details that show the links between the past and the present."

They will be looking for essays of about 2,500 words and will not consider work under 2,000 words or over 3,000 words.

Entries are limited to one per person. All must reflect the entrant's own research and can include illustrations, photographs or tables of statistics.

Work can be submitted from Wednesday, December 30, and the closing date is 5pm on March 31, 2016.

Researchers have to show that they have used Enfield Local Studies Library and Archive, in the Dugdale Centre, in London Road, Enfield Town, for their research. Work must be accompanied by an entry form and full details are available from local studies officer Mr Clark on 020 8379 2724 or at john.clark@enfield.gov.uk

The winners will be announced on May 13 next year.

How revamped market is keeping app to date

By Lucy Purdy

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

ENFIELD Market is tapping into a "payment revolution" that traders hope will urge residents to buy locally.

The market, one of the UK's oldest at more than 700 years old, is thought to be the first venue of its type in the country to encourage its 40 traders to adopt new mobile payment and loyalty app Droplet.

It allows customers to pay in "one touch of their phone", removing the need for cash.

The app also allows traders to create their own rewards programme. Some 25 traders have signed up already and 15 more are expected to come on board by early next year.

Jim Eustance, from The Old Enfield Charitable Trust, said: "Once we realised how easy the app was to implement and the fact it really pushed 'buy local and independent', we decided to give it our full backing and have been encouraging merchants to take it on en masse – the response has been fantastic."

The market was relaunched in October to include an 80-seater food court and refurbished bandstand complete with an open invitation for buskers to come and entertain shoppers.

Gaspare de Luca owns Tentazioni UK, an Italian deli on one of the largest pitches on the market.

What's app?: Ellie Gill, who helps coordinate the Love Your Local Market Campaign, at Enfield Town Market

He said: "We find it fast and easy to use and our customers are really getting into the habit of paying by phone."

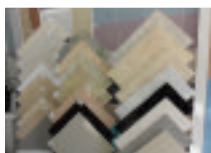

"I have no doubt that it has already increased our sales and I'm hoping the rewards platform will ensure people come back to us time and time again."

Those at Chinese food stall Yum Yum also said they have noticed a boost in trade.

Seasonal traders will be at the market until Christmas Eve. It is open from 9am to 5.30pm, apart from Sunday when opening hours are 11am to 5.30pm.

NEWS

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

LONDON'S first sparkling wine for centuries – made from grapes grown in Enfield – has just been launched ready for the festive season.

The fizz, Forty Hall Brut 2013, has been produced from grapes cultivated at the community-run vineyard at Forty Hall, which is believed to be the biggest in London since the Middle Ages.

Vineyard manager Sarah Vaughan-Roberts has hailed it as “a fresh milestone in the extraordinary success of sparkling wines in England”.

The grapes from the vineyard, in Forty Hill, are sent to winemaker Will Davenport's base in Sussex to make the sparkling wine.

It has been produced from three classic champagne varieties, organically grown Pinot Noir, Pinot Meunier and Chardonnay, and will be ready to drink at Christmas.

The vines are tended by volunteers on the ten-acre site provided by Capel Manor College, in Bullsmoor Lane, Enfield.

However, stocks of the first release of Forty Hall Vineyard London Sparkling Brut are limited and it is not going on public sale.

It has been snapped up as part of a sponsorship offer which closed at the end of September.

A second limited release of the 2014 vintage is expected to be available next year and will be offered through an £80 sponsorship package, which also includes a chance to join in next year's grape harvest, a guided tour of the vineyard, reduced rates for special events and a newsletter.

Ms Vaughan-Roberts said that production of grapes had increased every year since the vineyard was planted.

“We grow on a gravel deposit, on a south face well draining soil,” she said. “It has been a bumper year for wines. We are scaling up with the yield this year.”

This year's harvest has yielded six tonnes of grapes and is expected to make 2,000 bottles of still wine alone, but it is harder to predict the number of bottles of sparkling wine which will be produced.

Details about the sponsorship are available at <http://fortyhallvineyard.com/sponsorship.html>

Attention: DENTURE REPAIRS

If you are a denture wearer then this article may be of some interest to you!!
If you can relate to any of the following questions then it is a sign your denture needs attention:

DO YOU FIND YOUR DENTURES:

- Do not fit as well on your gums as they used to?
- Are they loose?
- Do not cut food as well as they used to?
- Do they make your face look older?
- Have discoloured despite meticulous cleaning or
- Cause discomfort/pain on chewing?

If any of the above breeds familiar territory then I may be able to alleviate some of these problems for you.

My name is Caroline Persaud I am a qualified CLINICAL DENTAL TECHNICIAN. Many of you may be aware of Dental Technicians/Mechanics who repair and produce dentures for dentists, however, due to recent changes in the Dental law, a group of Dental Care Professionals known as Clinical Dental Technicians have been approved by the General Dental Council and can now see denture wearers who have no natural teeth remaining, directly without having to visit a dentist.

The advantages to you, the patients, are numerous. You can be treated by a professional who has been clinically trained to undertake the impressions of your mouth and who also has the technical skill to manufacture your denture to meet your requirements.

A more direct, rapid and personalised service, that can be delivered to you in the comfort of your own home or at my day clinic in Edmonton.

If you wish to discuss any denture related issues please do not hesitate to contact me on:

Horror film scenes come to the end of the road

House of horror: How it appears in the film and, right, filming in Graeme Road

By Lucy Purdy
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

FILMING in Enfield for the film The Conjuring 2 has been wrapped up after a suburban corner of the borough was transformed into a 1970s' street.

Location filming for the New Line Cinema production has now come to an end after the team spent a month gathering footage in Graeme Road, off Baker Street.

The film is set to bring to the screen another real case from the files of "demonologists" Ed and Lorraine Warren, drawing inspiration from the 1970s-era story of the Enfield Poltergeist.

It is expected to be screened in June.

Enfield Council helped secure access for the film crew to use the site.

Council leader Doug Taylor said: "It was incredibly exciting to have a major Hollywood film shooting in the borough and we are very much looking forward to seeing the finished product next year.

"This was a fantastic example of New Line, Warner Bros, the council, residents and a wide range of organisations working together to minimise disruptions and make this project work, and I hope this will be the first of many such collaborations."

The Conjuring 2 stars Oscar-nominated actress Vera Farmiga and actor Patrick Wilson, the pair reuniting with director James Wan.

The first Conjuring film marked the largest ever opening for an original horror film and remains the second highest grossing original horror film of all time, second only to The Exorcist.

PrimeTime

What's on and what's coming

Right on Q: The cast of the show, which has started a fortnight-long run at the Dugdale Centre in Enfield Town

Not exactly The Muppets

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

THOSE who hold the preconceived idea that a puppet show is children's entertainment are in for a rude awakening with the comedy musical Avenue Q.

A pair of puppets have drunken sex, another is addicted to porn while all manner of outrageously filthy shenanigans occur.

The title of the production deliberately tips a wink to another puppet-inspired phenomenon – but Sesame Street it ain't!

Having won a clutch of Tony awards when it was first performed on Broadway in 2003, and following sell-out West End runs, it is now at Enfield's Dugdale Centre on the latest leg of a successful UK tour. "Suitable for over-16s," warns the posters, underlining its "strictly adult" content.

With cheery songs like Everybody's A Little Racist and The Internet is for Porn, plus the live and hilarious puppet sex scene, it's certainly not for the likes of children or easily shocked maiden aunts.

The plot revolves around a group of cute furry puppets living in a down-at-heel New York neighbourhood where they get up to all sorts of adult activities including enjoying energetic and varied sex, getting drunk, betraying each other and worrying about where their lives are heading.

The cast comprises a combination of puppets and humans and includes a closeeted gay banker, a Miss-Piggy style sex goddess called Lucy the Slut, the porn-addicted Trekkie monster, budding comic Brian and his Japanese therapist wife Christmas Eve and the trouble-making Bad Idea Bears, as well as our hero, English Lit graduate Princeton, looking for his purpose in life, and kindergarten teacher (and Princeton's love interest) Kate Monster.

Actors are clearly visible to the audience as they skilfully manipulate the puppets and deliver the dialogue and songs. But you hardly notice because all eyes are on the puppets as they are so believable.

The show continues its fortnight-long run at the Dugdale, in London Road, until next Wednesday.

A force to be reckoned with

STAR WARS EPISODE VII: THE FORCE AWAKENS (12A, 135 mins)

THE nail-biting wait is almost over. More than 10 years after Anakin Skywalker was seduced by the dark side of the Force and wielded a light sabre in battle against his mentor Obi-Wan Kenobi in Star Wars Episode III: Revenge Of The Sith, the seventh chapter of George Lucas's sprawling saga lands in a whirlwind of frenzied hype.

Director JJ Abrams, who revitalised the Star Trek franchise, sits in the director's chair for this new instalment, which is set about 30 years after the tumultuous events of Return Of The Jedi.

Miraculously, plot details have remained under a veil of secrecy since the film began shooting in April 2014 and Abrams has masterminded a refreshingly restrained marketing campaign that has propelled ardent fans on social media to the brink of meltdown with each tantalising behind-the-scenes photograph or trailer.

The omission of one major character from advertising material sparked endless 140 character-long theories and debate, posing uncomfortable questions about the fates of iconic protagonists since the Rebel Alliance celebrated a famous victory over the Imperial fleet and destroyed the Death Star.

Han Solo (Harrison Ford), Luke Skywalker (Mark Hamill) and Princess Leia (Carrie Fisher) – now referred to as General Organa – bear the deep emotional scars of their encounters with the dark side of the Force, which is led by Supreme Leader Snoke (Andy Serkis) and his dangerous and unpredictable protege Kylo Ren (Adam Driver).

This battle royale brings together new heroes and villains including scavenger Rey (Daisy Ridley), from the desert planet Jakku, First Order stormtrooper Finn (John Boyega), who possesses an important artefact, and fearless Resistance X-wing pilot Poe Dameron (Oscar Isaac).

Their fates intertwine with pirate and canteen owner Maz Kanata (Lupita Nyong'o), ruthless First Order base leader General Hux (Domhnall Gleeson) and beloved side-kicks Chewbacca (Peter Mayhew), C-3PO

(Anthony Daniels) and R2-D2 (Kenny Baker). Prepare for record-breaking box office takings and gnashing of teeth as plot spoilers leak online following the film's world premiere on Monday in Los Angeles.

The Force is still strong.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

- Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968 and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
- 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
- To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.
- The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
  - (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
  - (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
  - (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
- The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
- Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
- The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
- Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
- All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
- All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
- Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
- The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
- Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
- All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
  - (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
  - (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
- Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for settling the advertiser of this liability.
- All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
- All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
- The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
- The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies. Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

- Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
- 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
- To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.
- The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
  - (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
  - (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
  - (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
- The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
- Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
- The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
- Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
- All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
- All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
- Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
- The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
- Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
- All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
  - (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
  - (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
- Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
- All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
- All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
- The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
- The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A Box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

Data Officer

St Ignatius College is looking for a wonderful person to join our Data Team as soon as possible. The College is going through a period of transformation as it looks forward with great positivity and enthusiasm to the future. We believe passionately in investing in our staff and we are looking for an individual to join our team and bring with them the gift of their personality, a positivity and 'can-do' approach which will contribute to our Jesuit sense of purpose and ambition. We are looking to recruit a well organised, reliable and self-motivated person to provide support in the day to day management of the school data. You will have gained an A-Level or equivalent in Maths and/or I.T. related discipline.

Under the guidance of the Senior Leader in charge of Data and the Data Manager, you will provide comprehensive administrative support relating to Pupil Reports and other related data and liaise with Curriculum Leaders and Teaching Staff in relation to deadlines for Teacher Assessments and other data requirements. You will oversee the printing, collation and distribution of pupil reports. Training will be provided in the use of the school's systems if necessary although a working knowledge of schools systems and hierarchy would be desirable. You will produce and distribute tracking and monitoring spreadsheets.

You must be highly proficient in working with data and spreadsheets and have excellent numeracy skills. You will be required to interpret and manipulate data with dedication, accuracy, and attention to detail. You must have the ability to work quickly and accurately with a keen eye for detail in a demanding fast moving environment.

St. Ignatius College has 1100 boys on roll with over 200 in the Sixth Form. From September 2014 the Sixth Form admitted girls for the first time.

LATE COLLAPSE PROVES COSTLY

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

ERIC DIER admitted that Tottenham Hotspur only had themselves to blame after their 14-match unbeaten run in the Premier League came to an end with a shock 2-1 defeat at home to lowly Newcastle United on Sunday.

Spurs had not lost in the league since the opening day of the season, and they looked set to extend that sequence when Dier headed them into a first-half lead.

But the hosts squandered numerous chances to make the game safe and were made to pay as Newcastle struck twice late on to snatch all three points.

Dier said: "In the first half we played very well and we could have been two or three up. Their goalkeeper made a lot of good saves.

"In the second half we know we've got to come out with the same intensity and try to kill the game and we haven't done that.

"There are no excuses. We knew they would come here and play that way – most teams do. They made it hard for us but we have to break them down.

"Everyone is disappointed, it's normal. It hurts everyone. We want to win more than anyone. We're disappointed but we have to go again now. There is no point sitting around sulking. We need to learn from it and we have a week now where we can work and try to put it right next weekend. That's what we have to do."

And head coach Mauricio Pochettino was left ruing a missed opportunity after watching his side throw away the chance to secure a win which would have enabled them to climb into fourth place in the table.

"We feel very disappointed," the head coach said. "We played very well in the first half and deserved to score maybe one or two more.

"But you know in football that when you don't kill off the game, things can happen. In the second half we were in control until they scored.

Not good enough: Eric Dier was left frustrated after Spurs slumped to a shock defeat at home to Newcastle

"The problem is not about energy, but if you make mistakes you can pay and we were unlucky because the second half was under control and if we analyse the game it is not fair that we lost.

"But you need to work hard for 90 minutes and it's never finished until the referee's whistle."

Pochettino added: "You always need to learn and this is a good mentality. We need to assess why it happened. In football, sometimes it's difficult to explain.

"I thought the first half was fantastic and it's difficult to understand why we lost control in the second half."

□ Tottenham Hotspur have been drawn against Fiorentina in the last 32 of the Europa League for a second successive year, looking to gain revenge after being beaten by the Italian outfit last season.

Borough are thwarted by a last-gasp goal

HARINGEY BOROUGH were beaten by a late goal on Saturday as they suffered a 2-1 defeat at Soham Town Rangers in Ryman League Division One North.

After a scoreless first half, it was Borough who broke the deadlock through Anthony McDonald as they looked to build on their win at Maldon and Tiptree on Tuesday last week.

But Salim Relizani grabbed an equaliser with 17 minutes remaining before George Darling ended the visitors' hopes by scoring the winner two minutes from time.

Clear-cut chances were at a premium for most of the first half, but Jordan Gent did head behind from a corner for Soham, while McDonald fired wide from the edge of the box from the visitors' best opening.

The second period proved to be more entertaining, with Ryan Sharman and Luke Chadwick both going close for the hosts before Borough struck when McDonald collected the ball on the left of the area and fired low into the net.

Gent headed straight at visiting keeper Ashley Harris as Soham looked to hit back and they were eventually rewarded for their efforts with the equaliser – Relizani pouncing on a loose ball and firing into the net after Darling's initial shot had been saved by Harris.

Lifted by the goal, the hosts piled on the pressure with Pat Bexfield, Relizani and Gent all having chances to put them ahead before they struck the decisive blow late on when a ball into the box was headed on by Sharman into the path of Darling, who scored with a low shot at the near post to secure all three points.

Meanwhile, Daniel Aristidou and Rakim Richards scored the goals to give Borough their 2-1 victory over Maldon and Tiptree which saw them climb out of the relegation zone.

Haringey Borough, who entertained Thamesmead Town last night, are at home to Brightlingsea Regent on Saturday (3pm).

Onomah's delight at Spurs debut

JOSH ONOMAH revealed that he had fulfilled a dream after making his full Tottenham Hotspur debut in their Europa League win at home to Monaco on Thursday night.

The 18-year-old midfielder had made seven previous substitute appearances for the first team, but he was finally handed a chance to impress in the starting line-up and responded with a composed display to help Spurs romp to a 4-1 victory as they made sure of top spot in the group.

"Ever since I was nine my dream has been to play for Tottenham and this proved how it can happen if you work hard," he said. "I had mixed emotions when I found out I was starting because I was excited and nervous at the same time, but as soon as the whistle blew I was ready.

"The moment I stepped on to the pitch I could feel the crowd and when you feel the crowd on your side you just want to do it for them. It was an amazing feeling. It's time to build on this now. I can only try to go up from here."

However, it was Erik Lamela who was the star performer as Spurs' record signing grabbed the first hat-trick of his career – much to his delight.

"It's true, it's a special moment for me," he said. "I would like to dedicate it to my family and all the supporters.

"I'm happy for me and for the team because we won and we took three points. The most important thing is that we won and we played like a team in the 90 minutes. The mentality is good and we're happy, but we need to keep working every day."

PREPARING FOR WINTER

There's a lot of things you can do to prepare for the winter months, such as looking after yourself and your home.

Things you might think about are:

- Stock up on some basic food supplies in case it gets too cold or icy for you to go out to the shops;
- Remember you should have at least one hot meal a day, and hot drinks often;
- Get your heating system serviced at least once a year;
- Make sure you have warm clothing and blankets to keep warm during the day and at night;
- Why not arrange for someone you trust – a relative, friend or neighbour – to keep in touch with you when the weather is very cold;
- Make sure you get a flu jab!

For you to keep

IT CAN GET SLIPPERY OUTDOORS IN WINTER

There are things you can do over the winter to avoid slips, trips and falls.

Most falls are due to the combination of a slippery surface, the wrong footwear and being distracted.

The things you can do outside your home include:

- Spread sand or salt on icy surfaces;
- Wear shoes or boots with flat heels and good treads;
- Wait until conditions improve;
- Always use handrails on stairs;
- Walk carefully. Walk the way you're looking – and don't carry too much.

Hot water bottles and electric blankets can provide warm comfortable sleeping conditions, but:

- Check every year to make sure they are safe to use;
- Never use a water bottle and an electric blanket together, as this is dangerous;
- Do not use an electric blanket if it is wet or soiled.

Keeping yourself warm

- Wrap yourself up well at all times - even when going to bed;
- It is better to wear several layers of thin clothing than one thick layer, this is because they trap warm air close to the body;
- Go for clothes made from wool cotton or fleecy fabrics, if possible;
- A lot of heat is lost through the head and neck, so if you're chilly indoors, try wearing a hat and scarf;
- If you're sitting down, a shawl or blanket will provide extra warmth. You should also try to keep your feet up, because air is cooler at ground level.

KEEPING ACTIVE AND EATING WELL

Adults are recommended to do 150 minutes of moderate activity a week. This is easier than it sounds if the activity becomes part of your routine and it will make you feel better. Every 10 minutes of activity counts. Simply doing household chores will keep you warm, going for a walk, going to the shops or seeing friends are activities that may be good for your health.

It's also important to eat well.

This includes eating starchy foods (such as potatoes, rice and pasta), reducing fat, sugar and salt and not eating too many calories. The average man needs 2,500 calories a day, the average woman needs 2,000.

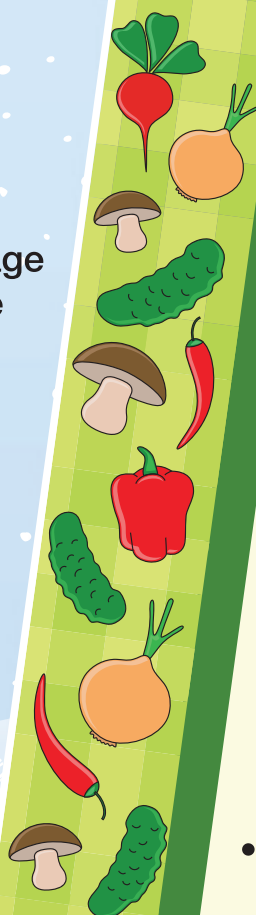

Remember, alcohol contains calories, so counts towards your daily intake of calories!

For more information go to www.enfield.gov.uk

Recipe for keeping well

- Have hot drinks to take the chill out of a winter day.
- Eat five varieties of fruit and vegetables a day.
- Eat a hearty breakfast like porridge with hot milk to keep you full for longer.
- Try soups and stews for lunch and dinner.
- Eat a variety of foods to ensure you get a range of nutrients, including vitamins and minerals.
- Look out for root vegetables such as parsnips and turnips and winter vegetables such as cauliflower, Brussels sprouts and kale.
- Most of all enjoy your food!

Do you want to maintain an independent lifestyle?

Enfield Care and Repair is Enfield Council's Home Improvement Agency. The Agency offers support and advice to help older or disabled homeowners and private tenants adapt their home to meet their needs.

The Agency offers impartial and practical support which can include advice on:

- Adaptations in the home
- Referrals to Occupational Therapists
- Information on home improvements
- Assistance with grant applications

There are a range of home improvement grants available if you are on a low income or on benefits. All grants are means tested and subject to availability.

- Disabled Facilities Grant – financial assistance for the cost of essential adaptation work to make a home suitable and fit to live in if you are disabled.

- Discretionary Disabled Facilities Grant – to assist you to move home where adaptations are not possible in your existing property.
- Decent Homes Grant – to help if you are an owner occupier and you need financial help to bring your living conditions up to the Government's 'Decent Home' Standard.
- Small Works Grant – to go towards the cost of essential repair work to remove imminent risk from your property.

Keeping your home warm

- Close your curtains as it gets dark – stop heat escaping through windows;
- Stop draughts through the bottom of doors or gaps in skirting boards;
- Put the plug in when you run hot water and get dripping taps fixed;

- Have your loft insulated and have cavity wall insulation fitted if you can;
- An insulating jacket for hot water tanks only costs a few pounds;
- Keep any windows and internal doors closed when it's cold – this will keep heat inside, where you need it most.
